(Written Thursday, Aug. 14, 1919.)

The distinguished Mr. Kolchak, of Russia, appears finally to have reached the end of his little rope. The United States and some other governments stupidly trying to force on Russia a hand-picked reactionary ruler have perhaps learned a lesson. Nobody in the United States government is in any way equipped to select rulers or make laws for nations across the water. Two hundred million Russians will decide what they want to do without help from us. The sooner the people of this country instruct their official employees to mind the business of this country, the better it will be for the United States.

Carnegie died rich, after all, but not disgraced. During the last few years he was not able, mentally, to look after his great fortune. Otherwise he might have carried out his wise plan to give it all away, except a few millions for his daughter.

Carnegie did something more important than mere giving of money. He made giving on a big scale fashionable in the United States. He chose for a motto to be written on his tomb these wise words: "Here lies a man who knew how to enlist in his service better men than himself."

He was the first American of enormous wealth to say that millions accumulated by hiring better men than himself were not all his.

His name will be remembered because it is carved in stone above the doors of many libraries. He was impressed by Carlyle's saying that on his way to Edinburgh to get books he passed many jails but not one library. If Carlyle could make the trip again he would pass more Carnegie libraries than jails. Thus the world improves gradually, as a baby grows up, so slowly that if you live with it you don't notice it.

You must not expect too much of a period in which low class human beings and high justice agree that the vilest cruelty is not the most serious offense.

We imagine that we are far above the hideous court that burned Joan of Arc, but we really are not.

We have improved our law books, but have still to improve ourselves.

Don't be impatient about the world's condition until you consider what kind of people live on earth. You would not expect a chain to wear a great strain if every other link were made of paper. You can hardly expect a human race to carry its heavy load successfully when every other human is a savage.

One man was arrested two days ago for beating his own, underfed boy, nine years old, with a leather trace for a trifling offense—not holding the baby as ordered. There were one hundred and eleven cuts on his body, and the boy may die. If he does not die the father will be punished probably less severely than he could have been had he stolen a horse.

Some men are on trial for tarring and feathering a woman, a Mrs. La Flesche. The tar was spread over her naked body almost boiling hot, and she is in the hospital struggling for life. One of the men that attacked her is held in one thousand dollars bail. If he had been engaged in some ordinary trade he would have been held in five or ten thousand dollar bail.

Forty thousand Polish Jews ask permission to come to this country. They should be made eagerly welcome here. And if they come Poland will learn by experience what happened to Portugal and Spain when brutal religious hatred drove out all the Jews, compelling them to build up, which they promptly did, Holland and England.

The forty thousand Jews would make forty thousand fortunes here, a few big fortunes, the great majority small fortunes. Ignorance and stupidity would envy those fortunes, not knowing that, for every dollar that a Jew earns in commerce or industry, non-Jews make many dollars.

The Jewish race is a radio-active force in the business of the world in commerce and industry; it is a force that quickens commerce and increases directly and immediately the prosperity of all.

Lead the history of Spain after bigotry, with fire and sword, had driven out the Jews.

AMERICAN TROOPS PUSH AHEAD IN PURSUIT OF MEXICAN BANDITS

GEN. DICKMAN TO HANDLE THE NUISANCE "WITHOUT GLOVES" IS NEW POLICY

Expedition Fully Equipped With Swift Moving Cavalry, Machine Guns and Airplanes for Active Service

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Mexican border raids and depredations by bandits directly across the border, evidence from official sources today showed, will in the future bring upon the marauders the armed forces of the United States. The present punitive expedition led by Major General Joseph T. Dickman, commander of the southern department it was learned constitutes the first working out of the new policy, which one official said is "handling the border nuisance without gloves."

The border guard, it was said, is equipped admirably for such work with swift moving cavalry, machine gun sections and airplanes stationed at detached points along the Rio Grande.

PURSUIT OF BANDITS CONTINUES

MARFA, Texas, Aug. 20.—Some-where in Mexico, opposite Candalaria, Texas, American soldiers today continued the pursuit began yesterday of bandits who captured and held for ransom Lieutenants Peterson and Davis, American aviators, rescued yesterday after payment of $8500 in gold to the bandit leader.

Military headquarters here was without information from the punitive expedition, heavy storms in the mountains of Chihuahua interrupting communication via the bell telephones of the army.

Possibility that the American soldiers already have had their first skirmish with the bandits was indicated last night when two aviators returned to the American side with bullet holes in the plane of their machine and a report that they had

U. S. AVIATORS HAD MEXICAN PERMISSION

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 19.—American aviators were given permission to cross the international frontier by the Mexican government to search for Lieutenants Harold B. Peterson and Paul N. Davis, who were captured by bandits, according to a bulletin made public here tonight by General Juan Barragan, chief of the presidential staff. The bulletin makes no mention of any permission being given the United States to send troops across the frontier. It also does not mention the exact place where the two American aviators were supposed to have landed and gives no information as to what band of outlaws is believed to be in that region.

General Barragan's bulletin says that on August 11, General Manuel M. Dieguez, commander of military operations in the state of Chihuahua, reported to President Carranza that he had received a message from Andres Garcia, inspector general of American consulates, forwarding a note from Colonel George T. Langhorne, American commander at Marfa, Texas. Colonel Langhorne's note stated that an American army airplane had landed in Mexican territory south of Big Bend country, Texas, as a result of following the Conchos River instead of the Rio Grande. The bulletin continues by saying that the region where the airplane landed is of a desert, where it is known some bands of outlaws have had rendezvous and have not been scattered because of the difficult nature of the country. The note from Colonel Langhorne asked permission for other American machines to cross the frontier to locate the lost pilots.

It is stated that President Carranza gave his consent for other airplanes to cross but believing they would accomplish nothing had ordered General Antonio Prunda, chief in command, at Ojinaga to send out cavalry scout parties. It is stated the government has been unofficially informed that the aviators have been ransomed and that the eighth American cavalry has sent troops in pursuit of the bandits but that no official report has been received from General Dieguez.

RUSSIAN REDS ARE IN AN OHIO JAIL

(Associated Press Dispatch.)

YOUNGSTOWN, Aug. 20.—One hundred and eighteen Russians said to be Bolsheviks are in the county jail here today as the result of a raid on an alleged Bolshevik meeting in East Youngstown last night by federal officials. The officers broke up the meeting in the midst of a speech which is said to have been highly incendiary. An auto load of red flags and Bolshevik propaganda was seized when the raid was made. The men are charged with suspicion temporarily but charges of sedition are likely to be brought later.

FOOD COMBINE DISCOVERED.

SPRINGFIELD, O., August 20.—

County Prosecutor T. F. Hudson announced today that he had received important information tending to show that the operations of a food-controlling combine extends over Clark, Montgomery and one other county. He plans to lay the evidence before Attorney General Price before calling a grand jury to investigate.

Food Profiteers and Housewives, Attention!

Here is a pictorial exhibit of some of the foodstuffs that can be secured at Uncle Sam's grocery just established at the Lima Postoffice under the supervision of Postmaster James M. Sullivan.

LOUISVILLE TAKES TURN AT WALKING DURING CAR STRIKE

(Associated Press Dispatch.)

LOUISVILLE, Aug. 20.—With the officials almost despairing in their efforts to end the strike of 1300 union motormen and conductors of the Louisville Street Railway company which has completely tied up the city's transportation system, hungered, again walked to work today. Practically every automobile in the city engaged in transporting workers, while special trains carried employees to railroad yards. Not a street car was on the streets.

Meanwhile hope is held out that a conference arranged for today or tomorrow between Mayor Smith, company and strike leaders will iron out differences and end the strike which was called by the union forces following rejection by the company of certain demands, chiefly one dealing with a closed shop.

YOUNGSTOWN, Aug. 20.—The eyes of the industrial world today turned toward Youngstown where presidents of 24 international A. P. of L. unions which have members in the steel industry are meeting to decide the question of calling a nation wide strike in the steel industry. The conference will canvass a strike vote already taken which union organizers assert is overwhelmingly in favor of a walkout.

Organizers in the Youngstown district, the second largest steel section in the country claim 15,000 union members out of 35,000 steel workers. Mill officials say that the organizers' claims are exaggerated and that a strike call will be of little effect here.

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—A strike of stage hands and musicians as an adjunct of the actors' strike threatens to close every downtown play house in Chicago tonight. It was planned to walk out last night, but leaders of the stage hands and musicians postponed action for one night.

(Associated Press Dispatch.) WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—General Pershing in a cablegram to the war department, has expressed the opinion that the bodies of American soldiers who died abroad should be left near where they fell.

"I believe that could these soldiers speak for themselves, they would wish to be left undisturbed where, with their comrades, they fought the last fight," General Pershing said.

"Those who rest in England graves, gave their lives in the same cause and their remains represent the same salvation as those who die on the battlefields.

CO-OPERATIVE BUYING IS TO BE USED IN FIGHTING H. C. L. IN BUCKEYE STATE

COLUMBUS, Aug. 20.—Cases of the six Columbus food dealers, arrested last week on affidavits filed by inspectors for the state dairy and food department for alleged violation of the smelter cold storage act are scheduled for trial before Judge Osborn in municipal court today.

Early this morning, attorneys for William Drake, manager of Morris company, filed a demurrer to the affidavit against him alleging that it does not contain sufficient facts to constitute an offense against the laws of the state. Drake is charged with offering for sale six boxes of fresh pork shoulder that had been held longer than six months.

COLUMBUS, August 20.—Co-operative buying is to break the back of retail profiteering, according to accounts received in Columbus. Large industrial establishments are advocating the movement in all parts of the state, with industrial leaders directing the movement on behalf of the employees. The first attempt to combat high prices will be in foodstuffs.

The surplus army food supplies have been exhausted in many cities, and while they gave temporary relief from high prices, the stocks will soon be consumed and the higher figures charged by retail dealers again confront the purchasers. Remedies now are to be sought in any other direction.

Large quantities of food will be purchased by employers at wholesale rates, and the employees will receive the benefit of the savings. When the movement becomes general, as it now appears to be apt to do, instances of profiteering in excessive retail profits may be ended.

The movement also may tend to array the retail merchants, according to statements of persons who have investigated the matter. In some instances, retail dealers have been apologists for high prices, and instances are frequent in which grand juries have directed their attention exclusively to them. Smaller profits can be the rule if the competition of co-operative buying and selling becomes a reality.

It is probable that the supreme court will meet Saturday to consider the Columbus pork case. In the event of a decision favorable to the state and county, appeal may be taken to the supreme court of the United States.

There has been no delay in the case being completed within a few days after it was submitted. It is now to the supreme court of the United States, the delay in final disposition may amount to many months. The state probably will seek to speed the case to an early decision as was obtained in the state courts.

PROBE SHOE PRICES.

WASHINGTON, August 20.—With adoption of the 1906 resolution directing the federal inquiry into the increased shoe prices, the house took first legislative action toward the reduction of the high cost of living.

Before adoption of the resolution, which was without a dissenting vote, the house voted down an amendment which would have extended the inquiry to "other articles of clothing and food."

The house agriculture committee considering legislation to extend the food control act to other necessities of life, to extend the powers of the act beyond the war time period, to grant to the president authority to fix fair prices for necessities and to provide penalties for hoarding, today continued its hearings with F. W. Waddell, of Armour & Company and Dr. Mary Pennington, of the department of agriculture, at witnesses.

Reports to the postoffice department today indicated that the war department's food surplus which was offered to consumers yesterday through the parcel post, was meeting with a ready sale.

WAR TAX INAPPLICABLE.

Assistant Postmaster General Dockery today instructed postmasters that no war stamp tax was applicable to the parcel post shipments of army foodstuffs.

The war department announced that due to the recent railroad strikes brief delays might be experienced in the filing of some parcel post orders through inability to distribute the supplies to the various depots.

FOOD INQUIRY TO END.

MARION, O., August 20.—"We have been unable to find any evidence to show profiteering here," Prosecutor Hector S. Young said today. He announced at the same time that the special session of the grand jury soon would adjourn.

GOVERNOR COX STARTS WORK ON NEW PRISON

First Shovelful of Dirt Is Thrown on Ohio's Farm

CONVICTS CELEBRATE

New Institution to Be Most Modern of Kind in United States

(Associated Press Dispatch.)

LONDON, O., August 20.—Governor Cox today began active construction of Ohio's new state penitentiary, which is to cost approximately $6,000,000 by turning the first shovel full of earth. The site of the new prison, which state officials say will be the most modern in the United States, is in the center of the state's 1,675-acre farm one mile west of London.

Constructing officials estimate that the prison will be between five and six years in building. It will cover 45 acres and will care for 3,000 men.

The shovel used by Governor Cox at today's ceremony was made by prisoners in the penitentiary and will hang on the wall of the new prison, which is to be constructed at almost entirely by convict labor. Former Governor James B. Campbell, Attorney General John Pine, Lieutenant Governor Horst and W. A. Greenlund, of Cleveland, chairman of the Ohio penitentiary commission which selected the site were other speakers.

The feature of the exercises was an address by S. D. Truock, a Cincinnati purveyor in the penitentiary. Appearing in his prison clothes he thanked the state officials for the new prison on behalf of the unfortunate ones who are confined behind the walls of the old penitentiary in Columbus. Truock was a private banker and was sent to state prison in connection with a Cincinnati bank failure. One of his sons also is serving in the penitentiary and another is serving a term at Mansfield reformatory in connection with the same case.

The penitentiary band and a band of boys from the boys' industrial school at Lancaster furnished the music. All of the 150 trustees employed on the prison farm were given a half-day holiday as were forty prisoners, who listened to the addresses while under a heavy armed guard. The exercises were held in a high wind stockade where the forty prisoners eat and sleep.

Governor Cox told of the good expected from the new penitentiary, not only in dollars and cents, but in mankind. He brought tears to the eyes of his listeners in telling of a new kind treatment made a man of one prisoner who was sentenced to life for murder.

The pardon board, the governor said, became interested in this man's case and found he had been convicted on purely circumstantial evidence. They recommended his pardon. Late one afternoon the young man, not yet 21, was called to the governor's office and told of the recommendations of the pardon board. The governor and prisoner were alone in the governor's office in the state house.

After putting out to the boy that he owed the state something for the time he had been in prison, the governor said he turned suddenly to the prisoner and said:

"Before going any further, I want you to answer me truthfully this one question: Did you commit murder?" "Yes," replied the young prisoner, "I did."

Within ten days, the governor said he pardoned the man, who later has become a superintendent in a big automobile factory in Detroit and a good church worker. Humane treatment the governor pointed out, makes a man of an unfortunate. He declared that with the facilities of the new penitentiary, Ohio will have far greater opportunity of making men out of criminals.

PERSHING SAYS AMERICAN DEAD SHOULD BE LEFT IN FRANCE

(Associated Press Dispatch.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—General Pershing in a cablegram to the war department, has expressed the opinion that the bodies of American soldiers who died abroad should be left near where they fell.

"I believe that could these soldiers speak for themselves, they would wish to be left undisturbed where, with their comrades, they fought the last fight," General Pershing said.

"Those who rest in England graves, gave their lives in the same cause and their remains represent the same salvation as those who die on the battlefields.

"The graves of our soldiers constitute, if they are allowed to remain, a perpetual reminder to our allies of the liberty and ideals upon which the greatness of America rests. Think the sentiment above outlined are held by many who have given this subject thought. These sentiments should appeal to the relatives and friends. Recommend that none of our dead be removed from Europe unless their nearest relatives should demand after a full understanding of all the sentimental reasons against such removal, and further recommend that immediate steps be taken for permanently providing and beautifying our cemeteries."

FARMERS DECLARE WORST IS TO COME IN FOOD SITUATION

Profiteering in Goods and Wages Must End If Crop
Production is Not to Fail

PROGRAM PRESENTED

Covers Wide Range of Demands By Tillers of the Soil

WASHINGTON, August 20.—Warning has been given by representatives of farmers' organizations testifying before the house and senate agriculture committees that unless present disturbed conditions resulting from profiteering "in goods and wages," and strikes were settled soon, the country would face a far worse situation from the high cost of living next year than at present.

Farmers, they said, were preparing now for the next year's crops and under present conditions they could not estimate what the probable market would be. Fear was expressed that there would be decreased production both on this account and because of President Wilson's statement in his message vetoing the repeal of the daylight saving law, placing industrial production ahead of farm output.

Farmers' Program.

The program outlined by the national grange and presented to the joint senate and house committee on agriculture today, is designed to "counteract influence of present agitation and thereby increase food production." It is recommended:

1. Abandonment of all price fixing on food and clothing materials at the end of the present crop season.
2. All restrictions and regulations based on war powers of congress, including food administration activities, to be terminated immediately.
3. Immediate termination of powers of war trade board.
4. Removal of all internal revenue taxes on food products.
5. Revision of tariff schedules to afford protection for farm products equal to protection of manufacturing products.
6. Immediate revision of discount and grading rules, especially on wheat.

7. Liberal appropriations for increased work and legislative authority, if necessary, to extend activities of interstate commerce commission, federal trade board, United States tariff commission and the department of justice on the basis of war status.

Ask Recognition.

8. Recognition of organizations of farmers in making up the personnel of committees to direct enforcement of existing or proposed laws.

9. Immediate reduction of expenditures to conditions as nearly as possible approximating pre-war status, by hastened demobilization of fighting forces.

10. Enactment of laws to define legality of collective bargaining among agricultural people.

11. Enactment of laws, to safeguard purchasers of animal feeds, stiffs, commercial fertilizers and farm seeds.

12. Appointment of a special committee to prepare and issue official statements for the information of the public of critical conditions affecting agriculture production for the coming year.

INFORMATION FOR DISCHARGED ARMY MEN ON INSURANCE

Hon. B. F. Welby, congressman from this district, supplies the following of interest:

Every discharged soldier, sailor and marine who has permitted his government insurance policy to lapse may reinstate the same within 9 months from the first date of the lapse of his policy by complying with the following regulations:

1. Where the insured has paid no premiums since discharge: (a) If not discharged more than three months, the policy may be reinstated by simply sending in past due premiums, provided the insured is still living. No application for reinstatement or proof of good health is required.

(b) If discharged more than three months and less than nine months, insured must be in as good health as the date of discharge, and so state in his application for reinstatement when sending in premiums past due. No medical examination is required. (c) If insured was discharged before January 1, 1919, the insurance may be reinstated at any time before September 30, 1919, on the same conditions as in paragraph (b) above; namely insured must be in as good health as at date of discharge and so state in his application for reinstatement when sending in premiums past due. No medical examination is required.

2. Where the insured has paid the first premium due after he was discharged but has failed to pay some of the later ones: (a) If less than three months behind in premium payments and insured is in as good health as when policy lapsed, and so states in his application, he may reinstate without medical examination by sending in premiums past due. (b) If more than three months behind and less than nine months, the insured may reinstate, if in as good health as at the date when the insurance lapsed and so states in his application, and submits therewith a satisfactory report to the effect to the Director of War Risk Insurance from a reputable physician together with premiums past due.

3. Where the insurance has been formally cancelled it may be reinstated on conditions similar to the above.

If the policyholder is unable to keep the full amount of war risk insurance he carried while in the service, he may reinstate part of it from $1,000 up to $10,000 in multiples of $500. Reductions may be made in multiples of $500 to any amount, but not less than $1,000. Premiums are due on the first of the month, although payments may be made any time during the calendar month. Premiums should be paid by check, draft or money order payable to the Treasurer of the United States, and sent to the Premium Receipt Section, War Risk Insurance Bureau, Washington, D. C.

Congressman Welby urges all discharged service men, whenever they write to the Bureau of War Risk Insurance to be sure to furnish the following information:

1. Full name (including first, middle and last name) and complete address, with name of organization and army serial number.
2. Rank at the time of applying for insurance.
3. Number of insurance certificate if known.

BOOTLEG SPECIAL CARRIES ALCOHOL INTO WASHINGTON

Use of New Fuel Forerunner of Change in Aerial Mail Service

GASOLINE SUBSTITUTE

Gives Greater Flying Radius to Planes and Lessens Forced Landings

WASHINGTON, August 20.—Although the national capital is legally speaking a dry city the "Bootleg Special" comes into town everyday laden with alcohol and not the slightest attempt is made by the minions of the law to interfere with its operations.

This particular "Bootleg Special" is performing a public service by demonstrating that fuel alcohol is greatly to be preferred over gasoline as a fuel for aeroplanes. In the future, when the aeroplane becomes a common vehicle of transportation and commerce, the "Bootleg Special" will assume its rightful place in history.

Bootleg Special

The postoffice department has just issued the following statement which tells all about the "Bootleg Special":

"One hundred and thirty gallons of alcohol were brought into Washington today by an air mail plane of the postoffice department. The plane carried officers and policemen on the lookout for bootleggers. The alcohol was not carried in the mail bags which would be in violation of the law, but in the fuel tanks, nor was it peddled around in the haunts of the bootleggers after its arrival. The proper thirst for this character of alcohol has not yet been cultivated. It contains a fair percentage of benzol and enough ether to give it additional kick.

Alcohol Vs. Gasoline

The plane which brings in this alcohol is known among the air mail pilots as the "Bootlegger" and is the forerunner of a revolutionary change in the motor operation of the air mail service. This product is the new alcohol fuel which takes the place of the high grade aeroplane gasoline. After a number of tests with this new fuel under adverse weather conditions, the postoffice department is changing over its aeroplane engine attachments and will shortly be operating the entire New York-Washington route with the alcohol fuel.

"Its great advantage lies in the cleanliness of the motor, reducing cost of up-keep, and in its burning cooler than gasoline, thereby overcoming objections to the high compression motor at low altitudes.

"The planes which ordinarily use 25 to 30 gallons of gasoline operate on the new fuel on about 20 gallons, which gives greater flying radius to the planes. It reduces the engine cylinders clean of carbon and oil accumulations. With this fuel it will be possible to operate the mail in a De Havilland four regularly in a non-stop flight from New York to Cleveland a distance of 450 miles, whenever fog or rain conditions in the mountains make it inadvisable to attempt to land at the intermediate field at Bellefonte, Pa."

Mansion House Key Is Found In New York

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—The key to the front door of the Mansion House in London, recovered recently at Camp Devens, Massachusetts, in the baggage of Lieutenant Ira I. Hodges, of Brooklyn, was stolen at an entertainment for American wounded, by a sailor who was caught in the act and sent the key to the officer's hotel, Lieutenant Hodges said today.

He explained that soon after the key was sent him he was stricken with influenza and forgot to return it. Later it was packed into his bedding roll by the porter of his hotel.

FIRST STATE FLOUR MILL IN N. DAKOTA SOON IN OPERATION

BISMARCK, N. D., Aug. 20.—Steps toward providing North Dakota with its first state-owned flour mill under the Non-partisan League program were taken here recently when the industrial commission, which will direct the operation of all state owned industries under the League plan, authorized J. A. McGovern, manager of the Mill and Elevator Association, to make a contract for the purchase of the flour mill at Drake. The mill has a capacity of 150 barrels a day.

Mr. McGovern also was instructed to plan for the establishment of the state's terminal flour mill and elevator, construction of which is expected to be started next spring.

The industrial commission plans to use the Drake mill as the basis for the state organization, according to Oliver S. Morris, secretary of the industrial commission, and to train millers for state work.

Purchase of the Drake mill will be made when the industrial commission approves Mr. McGovern's contract.

LONDON, July, 26.—American sailors on mine-sweeping duty in the North Sea, probably will not leave fish when they get back home. When mines are exploded in the process of clearing out the barrage, thousands of fish are killed. One of the little sub-chasers in the fleet scoops up hundreds of pounds of them each evening when operations cease for the day, and distributes among the several vessels for food. The men enjoyed it for a time but now hate the sight of a fish.

SHANTUNG QUESTION IS BEFORE SENATE COMMITTEE TODAY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—With many facts developed at yesterday's conference with President Wilson before it, the senate foreign relations committee today was ready to resume consideration of the peace treaty. J. C. Ferguson an authority called to testify before the committee relative to Shantung and related questions.

There was no indication early today whether the committee would again confer with the president.

Debate on the league of nations and treaty was to be resumed in the senate today with Senator Owen, democrat, Oklahoma, expected to speak on the league covenant. Senator Hitchcock, Nebraska, leader of the administration forces, it was learned planned to speak either today or tomorrow.

The only expressions of opinion today as to the conference were from Senators Borah, Idaho, and Johnston, California, republicans, who in a joint statement set forth the facts developed at the conference as they viewed it and declared that these facts showed that the position had maintained "in respect to this covenant of the league of nations is justified and confirmed."

President Wilson had before him a series of 20 written questions submitted by Senator Fall, New Mexico, republican member of the foreign relations committee. The questions which were submitted to the president at the close of the conference and which he agreed to answer after study, were in regard to the possibility of declaring the war at an end prior to senate ratification of the treaty, the disposition of Germany's former colonial possessions and the reasons for American participation in the various reconstruction commissions created by the treaty.

A tiny bottle of "Freezone" costs little at any drug store; apply a few drops upon the corn or callus. Instantly it stops hurting, then shortly you lift that bothersome corn or callus right off, root and all, without one bit of pain or soreness. Truly! No humbug!

The Parasites

IT IS EASY enough, in contemplating the extortion which we are morally certain is being practiced upon purchasers of necessities, to forget that world conditions have a very definite bearing upon prices, after all. There are certain factors which no amount of legislation can eliminate. In the matter of wheat, for example, the enormous resources of Russia and Siberia are not available in this time of world need because these lands are in a chaos of Bolshevism. It is a strange sidelight upon the status to which this political insanity has brot Russia that the American relief commissions are actually shipping flour across the Atlantic, the Mediterranean and the Black Sea to Ukraine, probably the richest wheat country in the world. Shoes are a serious financial problem to American householders. France has quit producing kid-skins by reason of the Hun's ravages upon her flocks. Russian and Austrian leathers are not a factor in the market any more. Germany's huge beet sugar industry—from which even the United States was wont to draw large supplies—has been all but paralyzed. The great cattle droves on Russia's steppes have been slaughtered and scattered by the contending armies of the reds and the conservatives. Austria and the Hungarian countries are in a state of agricultural and industrial collapse. Not a belligerent nation of Europe has produced one-fourth of its normal domestic supplies. The plan truth is that a large share of Europe's millions are either voluntary or involuntary parasites.

It requires no great depth of thought to understand that the first condition requisite to restoring production and establishing something near a normal status not only in Europe, but in the world at large, is PEACE. There can be no resumption of industry, agriculture or transportation without credit; and there can be no restoration of credit without peace.

The politicians in congress make great capital out of the fact that they have switched the labors of that body from consideration of the peace treaty to the problems of high prices. The fact of the matter is that the delay in concluding peace and getting Europe back on a foundation of self-sustenance is not only contributing more and more to the economic worries of the world and the nation, but encouraging a feeling of desperation among the masses which makes sound settlement of these problems harder with every passing day.

What the world needs more than anything just now—and needs so urgently that the case cannot be overstated—is to get the millions of non-producers back into production. Nero's fiddling was a harmless pastime as compared to the trifling of the senate with the peace treaty while civilization sits upon a smoldering volcano.

These Intemperate Days

THE WORLD has never been so violently intemperate as it is now, not even while the war was being fought. Intemperance of speech and action prevail everywhere; the commonest subject cannot be discussed temperately; public questions arouse wrath; criticism has assumed the most violent and the most malevolent form in all countries. Only in the matter of alcoholic consumption is temperance winning over intemperance.

The whole world is seething with intemperance at this time. Extravagance in all things, language as well, prevails. It is an era of exaggeration, of excesses. Self-control and poise are rare. Deliberation is forgotten. Conciliation is unknown. The war caused it, unquestionably; but it is a fact that throughout the earth, in the heathen and in the Christian countries, there is unrest and uneasiness and anxiety and disregard for the established order of things. The man who speaks softly is unheard; only he who screams can get an audience. Sensationalism alone holds the stage or commands attention, and sensationalism must change its dress every twenty-four hours.

We shall never get back to pre-war conditions, and nobody wants to get back. But until we settle down and become better poised; until there is less of intemperance and extravagance and exaggeration in the world, we can not hope to make the progress which we ought to make. Bitterness of thought and speech do not make for progress.

The Habit of Criticizing

IT IS SAID OF a gentleman in a neighboring city—we hope it can not be said of anybody in this city—that "few things get by him without criticism." He has formed the habit of criticizing, and it comes natural with him to offer criticism the moment a proposition is put up to him or the moment a subject is mentioned. It has come to be a mental attitude.

Indeed, there are those who seem to believe that to offer criticism is to assume an attitude of wisdom. Not to accept any one's statement without question; to doubt and dispute and to offer amendments—some people actually believe such course to be a manifestation of wisdom or knowledge. It may be nothing of the kind; it is much more apt to be due to the habit of criticizing, and nothing else.

But of all the criticisms one hears, the cynical criticism is the worst. Cynicism itself is likely to be born of disappointment, or failure. To sneer at the other fellow's efforts or ambitions, to belittle his activities, to pick out the weak spots in his character or to hold up his eccentric characteristics in cynical comment—these things ought to brand the critic as a man himself who has failed in life or who is afraid of his own position. It certainly shows that one does not feel secure in the position he is occupying in the public mind or the business world.

HAPPY THOUGHT: Maybe it won't be long now until we'll be referring to them as "storm cellars."

Insofar as being president of Ireland is concerned, this man De Valera seems to have picked out for himself a job that he may never get a chance to work at.

If we should ever win a pugilistic championship we believe we should refer all challengers to The Hague.

GODD EVENING—To the average girl the worst thing about peace is that it brought about a demobilization of second lieutenants.

WHAT YOU SHOULD DO WHEN TROUBLED WITH "INDIGESTION"

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG
A. B., M. A., M. D. (John Hopkins University)

A surfeit of the sweetest things, the deepest loathing to the stomach brings. You often think a bit too earnestly of your dinner and do not count the consequences.

It may not be possible always to tell what a man is by what or where he eats, but you need not be a doctor to be sure therapy of some news from his stomach.

Beware of your "dear friends" who tell you about "dyspepsia," "indigestion" and "nervous stomachs." These names have no meaning in medical parlance. They are loose sheets to cover all sorts of worn-out "nervousness."

Dr. W. G. Stomper, assistant surgeon-general, United States public health service, says of these colloquial terms that the "symptoms" which give rise to such names as dyspepsia often are not due to the disease of the stomach itself.

Only Two Serious Diseases. There are only two serious diseases of the stomach, ulcer and cancer, neither of which is a common complaint.

Stomach symptoms may result from nervousness. Emotional stomach upset will interfere with digestion and be followed by distress after a meal. Consumption is often accompanied by stomach trouble, in fact, this may be the only complaint made by a victim of this malady.

Disease of the heart, especially stagnation of blood in the abdomen, of the liver, such as is produced by alcohol or gallstone, of the intestines, particularly if there is constipation or a restriction of the free passage of the bowel contents; of the kidneys, as in chronic inflammation of these where the waste products of the body are not fully eliminated; of the brain, where there is a tumor or inflammation of the cerebral membranes—all give rise to stomach symptoms.

There may be only a sense of fullness or distress after eating, there may be a burning or gnawing sensation in the center of the upper part of the abdomen or severe paroxysms of pain which cause the victim to double up. These symptoms may be accompanied by nausea and vomiting or the eructation of gas or sour liquid.

Ways to Relief. If a person has no serious malady, he should be able to digest without distress nearly all classes of food. The trouble out from a diet of certain substances, such as fats, starches or meats may give rise to constipation and intestinal fermentation which result in dyspepsia. It is not a good practice therefore to limit yourself to certain foods unless it is done under the order of a physician or until after repeated trials. It is found that certain things always "disagree" with you. Very often the fault is not in the food, but in the state of mind of the eater. The simplest remedies of food will sometimes cause distress or disturbance.

If one is subject to worry or any sort of constipation is one of the chief causes and its avoidance will often prevent various gastric complaints. A teaspoonful to a tablespoonful of milk or magnesia taken every three hours will often allay some stomach symptoms. This mixture neutralizes the increased acid made in the stomach contents, and also opens the intestines. A teaspoonful of carbonate of soda in a glass of water one hour after meals frequently acts as a preventive. Twenty grains of "unacarbonate" of bismuth taken with this soda is of value, but it may increase the tendency of constipation. A good plan is to alternate them when the intestines are too loose take bismuth, when constipated, use magnesia. A little peppermint added to these mixtures makes them more palatable.

During a acute attack of dyspepsia it may be necessary to reduce the diet and only take a little milk or thin soup but no permanent change in the diet should be made without the advice of your physician, as the trouble may not only be diminished thereby, but it may even be increased by such a course. Great care should be taken to keep the bowels regular by eating such foods as coarse bread, whole wheat bread or oatmeal. This forms part of the residue after digestion and stimulates the intestines to contract and thus pushes the contents along.

Fats, especially in children tend to "proven" constipation and their absence from the diet will often cause this condition. Olive oil used in the form of salad dressing is one of the best correctives. Fruits will often act in the same way. Cooked fruit, although not as efficacious as raw fruit in its action is less liable to disagree.

Laxatives, such as licorice powder, cascara, aloin, agar-agar, and mineral oil are often employed, but it is better not to use laxatives if you can be regulated by a proper diet.

During the past year the board of examiners of this county (not named) has examined 156 teachers. Of this number four were rejected. Fifty-three were poorly qualified and could teach little except reading, writing and arithmetic and even that quite imperfectly. They received, however, each a certificate for six months with the distinct understanding that unless their qualifications at the next examination were of a better character they might expect to be rejected. Of the whole number examined 51 were tolerably well qualified. They understood in addition to reading, writing and arithmetic, either wholly or in part, geography, English grammar and history. They received each a certificate for nine months and were informed as to what branches they were most deficient in, and advised to inform themselves so as to secure a certificate of a higher grade at the next examination.

The remaining 45 were such as might be termed well qualified. They were well acquainted with the principles of elementary education, of the common branches and a considerable number could teach book-keeping, the elements of algebra, elements of geometry, surveying, mensuration, plane trigonometry and the elements of chemistry and natural philosophy. Each of these received a certificate for a period between nine months and two years.

Another board of examiners said that out of 95 teachers examined 25 were well qualified, 40 tolerably well and the remainder "would just do for want of better."

HE IMPROVED RIGHT ALONG

A student had a barrel of ale deposited in his room, contrary of course, to rules and usage. He received a summons to appear before the president.

"Sir, I am informed that you have a barrel of ale in your room," said the latter.

"Yes, sir."

"What explanation can you make?"

"Why, the fact is, sir, my physician advises me to try a little each day as a tonic and not wishing to go to the various places where the beverage is retailed I arranged to have a barrel in my room."

"Indeed! And have you derived any benefit from the use of it?"

"Oh, yes, sir. When the barrel was first taken to my room I could scarcely lift it. Now I can carry it easily."—Pittsburgh Chronicle Telegraph.

Q—What can I do for falling hair?
 A—Massage a little of the following into the hair on alternate nights with a stiff bristle brush:
 Fluid extract of cantharides 1 dram
 Tincture of cantharides 1 dram
 Tincture of calcium 1 dram
 Quinine sulphate 1 dram
 Rosewater 1 ounce
 Distilled water 3 ounces

Q—What can I do for perspiring feet and hands?
 A—Bathe the feet in formalin—one half teaspoonful to a pint of water. Bathe them in each night in warm water, wear non-leather shoes and thin hose. Change the latter every morning. As a trial, a little sulphur ointment or formaldehyde water on the hands may check the moisture. Frequent washing with caustic soap assists.

Q—What do you advise for wrinkles?
 A—Facial massage with a little cocoa butter, corn oil and a happy, cheerful, non-envious disposition, all help to smooth them away.

Q—What can I do for hard hearing?
 A—An examination must be made to determine whether it is middle ear disease, high blood pressure, wax, hardening of the ear bones or other things at times. Head noises and deafness may be benefited by a small deafness may be benefited by a small electric vibrator used in the ear. Two or three grains of ammoniated mercury to the ounce of petrolatum applied to the nostrils twice a day may help because nose and throat diseases are often concerned in it. The tonsils, adenoids and turbinate bones all call for an examination.

Short Stories of the Buckeye State

EARLY OHIO SCHOOL TEACHERS

An interesting sidelight is thrown on the work of education in the common schools of the state of the early part of the last century, in the report of Samuel Lewis, the state superintendent of instruction, for the year 1839, contained in the state public documents. The office that Mr. Lewis held had been recently created and then abolished—he mentioning in the report that for this reason it was the last that he would make.

He quotes in the report from a number of county boards of teachers' examiners as to the character and qualifications of the teachers that they had before them. They were a poor lot, it would seem. The county reports run much alike, but here is a fair sample:

"During the past year the board of examiners of this county (not named) has examined 156 teachers. Of this number four were rejected. Fifty-three were poorly qualified and could teach little except reading, writing and arithmetic and even that quite imperfectly. They received, however, each a certificate for six months with the distinct understanding that unless their qualifications at the next examination were of a better character they might expect to be rejected. Of the whole number examined 51 were tolerably well qualified. They understood in addition to reading, writing and arithmetic, either wholly or in part, geography, English grammar and history. They received each a certificate for nine months and were informed as to what branches they were most deficient in, and advised to inform themselves so as to secure a certificate of a higher grade at the next examination."

The remaining 45 were such as might be termed well qualified. They were well acquainted with the principles of elementary education, of the common branches and a considerable number could teach book-keeping, the elements of algebra, elements of geometry, surveying, mensuration, plane trigonometry and the elements of chemistry and natural philosophy. Each of these received a certificate for a period between nine months and two years."

Another board of examiners said that out of 95 teachers examined 25 were well qualified, 40 tolerably well and the remainder "would just do for want of better."

HE IMPROVED RIGHT ALONG

A student had a barrel of ale deposited in his room, contrary of course, to rules and usage. He received a summons to appear before the president.

"Sir, I am informed that you have a barrel of ale in your room," said the latter.

"Yes, sir."

"What explanation can you make?"

"Why, the fact is, sir, my physician advises me to try a little each day as a tonic and not wishing to go to the various places where the beverage is retailed I arranged to have a barrel in my room."

"Indeed! And have you derived any benefit from the use of it?"

"Oh, yes, sir. When the barrel was first taken to my room I could scarcely lift it. Now I can carry it easily."—Pittsburgh Chronicle Telegraph.

OUR BED-TIME STORY

FOR TINY TIMES-DEMOCRAT FOLKS

The children and Captain Brave and Ladydear listened intently while Jeanne's father told what had happened to him during the war.

When he received word late one afternoon while he was home with Jeanne and her mother that Germany was marching on France, he could hardly believe the word. He really didn't think that such a serious thing as a world war was going to happen when he kissed them good-bye and hurried to join the ranks of the first brave army which prevented the Germans from reaching Paris in the early weeks of the war.

But he soon saw that the war was going to last many months. The number of soldiers grew rapidly. Germany sent larger forces and France had to have more men to stand against the enemy.

Her father's story of the battles in which he fought and the brave deeds of the men around him just like the others the children had heard on their travels. Then finally he had been captured. He was taken to a German prison camp. There followed weeks of

AMUSEMENTS

FAUROT—WALLACE REID
In his new paramount production "You're Fired!" Wallace Reid changes from heavy dramatic roles to light comedy. Some of his late productions have been straight dramas, but his latest starring vehicle "You're Fired!", which is on view at the Faurot, is one of the funniest and most entertaining comedy-dramas ever produced. Mr. Reid is quite versatile and makes good in the lightest comedy as he does in the heaviest drama.

The support is most praiseworthy, the leading feminine role being in the hands of Wanda Hawley. Theodore Roberts and Raymond Hatton are in the cast.

The Pathe News and James Montgomery Flagg's timely and amusing comedy, "The Con in Economy," are added features of the program. Last times tonight.

FAUROT—"UNCLE TOM'S CABIN"

The Faurot is prefacing its regular theatrical season with a preliminary engagement of William H. Kibbie's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" company, long known as the biggest and most expensive organization on tour. Several years ago we had a regular visit from Mr. Kibbie's production every season and hundreds will be delighted to welcome the return of their old favorite. Two bands, a solo orchestra and a big, novel street parade will be features of the engagement, which opens with a special matinee next Saturday.

AT THE LYRIC PRESS REVIEW NO. 1.

"Redhead," Alice Brady's latest picture at the Lyric Theatre, is human, entertaining and charming. It is the story of a wealthy young man, a good-for-nothing, who marries Dazie, alias "Redhead," when they are both under the influence of liquor. She proceeds to make a man of him and despite much opposition she succeeds in doing it.

One of the novel features of this picture is the unique marriage ceremony. Matthew Thurlow, the man-about-town, asks Dazie to marry him on a bet, when they are at a small dinner party in one of New York's gayest restaurants where Dazie is a star entertainer. Rolly Gard, a friend of Thurlow's and a justice of the peace, marries them. In a noisy restaurant with waiters running to and fro, surrounded by an innumerable number of strange people, Matt and Dazie are united in marriage.

Miss Brady is especially fine in the role she portrays. She is alive and throbbing and depicts splendidly the life of the cabaret girl, whom no one believes to be decent, just because she is a cabaret girl. It does not require much imagination to follow the inner thoughts of Dazie. Miss Brady makes you see the heartache she bears—the greatest heartache in the world—that of loving a man and not being loved in return. You feel with her the pride she feels in her old-fashioned country parents and the happiness at last of learning that she is loved. She is ably supported by Conrad Nagel and an excellent cast.

GERMANS TO LEAVE FATHERLAND SOON BY THE MILLIONS

BERLIN, Aug. 20.—It is expected that several million Germans will attempt, as soon as passes are available, to leave Germany and secure more lucrative employment abroad.

The new organized Imperial Migration Bureau denies that a German commission in the Argentine is attempting to arrange for the acceptance of 5,000,000 Germans, which is vastly more than the South American country could suddenly assimilate, but says that delegates of the new bureau will shortly go to the Argentine to protect such Germans as to arrive there from being robbed and deceived.

The bureau says the Argentine is friendly to Germans and offers good chance for skilled labor such as carpenters, watchmakers, mechanics and printers.

The Argentine Consulate General says that a Commission has been sent to the Argentine which will buy land for the emigrants and institute farms and schools. He declares that the Argentine government is willing to welcome large colonies of Germans but demands they should accept Argentine citizenship so that there will be no danger of creating a state within a state. Precautions are to be taken against Bolsheviks. Emigrants are especially welcome to the territories of Chaco Misiones, Chubut and on government lands. Twenty to two hundred hectares will be given free, on condition that they are not to be sold, and cattle and machinery will be advanced on credit.

Stomach Trouble.

There are many who should be greatly encouraged to know that stomach troubles can be cured. Mrs. T. E. Hurlinger, Mansfield, Ohio was sick for three months with stomach trouble and constipation. She saw Chamberlain's Tablets advertised and decided to try them. Let her tell it. "The first dose did me more good than all of the medicine I had previously taken and by taking two bottles of these tablets was positively cured."

VERNE

Jules Verne was born at Nanterre, February 8, 1828. Though he had gone to Paris to study for the bar he followed in the footsteps of the legion who have found the idle moments of the law a pleasant occasion for the wandering imagination. The opera and the stage attracted him, but it was not long before he discovered a field which he made his own, that of imaginary voyages to any impossible place to which his whimsy might direct him, for which, however, he had prepared a timeable and made all sorts of scientific preparation in the most minute way. Such imaginary trips have been made by writers from Homer's days to those of H. G. Wells, and the guides have included such personages as Virgil, Dante, Cyrano de Bergerac, Dean Swift, and Daniel Defoe. But none have been more matter of fact or more brilliant in carrying off the matter, and the marvels of science in the present war have brought Jules Verne and his delightful day-dreams to the minds of all.

Perhaps the most famous trips were those to the "Centre of the Earth," "From the Earth to the Moon," "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea," and "Around the World in Eighty days." All the languages of the world know the tales and most theatres know the last named, as well as "Michael Strogoff."

He died at Amiens, where his home has long been pointed out, March 24, 1905.

20,000 LEAGUES UNDER THE SEA

By JULES VERNE
Condensation by James B. Connolly.

I was leaning forward, on the starboard bulwark, my servant Conseil beside me, when the voice of Ned Land, the big harpooner, broke the silence. "Look! There is the thing we are looking for!" he cried.

We all saw the sea monster, or whatever it was, which we had been hunting for months. It made off as we charged. We gave chase. Throughout all that night and next day we pursued. We stopped. Once it allowed us to creep close to it; and as we crept it rammed us.

The shock of collision threw me into the sea. I would have drowned but for my faithful Conseil. He supported me to the hard metallic back of the monster. Here we were joined by Ned Land. As we were coming through a hatch and drew us down into the bowels of what we now saw was not a monster, but a strange kind of sea craft. Thus began the strange voyage with that remarkable character who called himself Captain Nemo, and in that strange wonderful ship which he called the Nautilus.

The Nautilus was a cigar-shaped steel ship of 232 feet in length, 26 feet beam and 1500 tons dead weight. There were two hulls, one inside the other joined by T-shaped irons, which rendered them of almost uncrushable strength. She was driven by electric engines of tremendous power. Tanks which could be filled or emptied at will enabled her to cruise on the surface or under the water as she pleased.

She was fitted with all kinds of working and lounging quarters. In a library were books on the sciences, morals and literature of almost every language. There was a drawing room with a luminous ceiling which served also as a museum, and into which an intelligent hand had gathered strange submarine treasures of the world: the rarest shells, pearls of all colors and beyond price, every variety of undersea vegetation; also paintings of the masters, admirable statues in marble and bronze, a great organ piano.

From the inside of her a staircase led to a platform or deck from which rose two cages, partly enclosed by thick glass. One cage was for the helmsman, the other contained an electric searchlight to light the course of the ship in dark waters. On this platform also was a place wherein was stored a long-boat.

Captain Nemo was tall and robustly-built, with pale skin, lofty brow, and the fine taper hands of a highly nervous temperament. He spoke French, English, German, Latin, all equally well. He may have been thirty-five, he may have been fifty years of age.

It was on November 6, 1866, with the coast of Japan in view, that this strange Captain told us we were prisoners for him to do with as he pleased. "And now," he added, "our course is E. N. E. and our cruising depth 26 fathoms. I leave you to the resources of these quarters and your own reflections."

We remained mute, not knowing what surprise awaited us. Suddenly a dazzling light broke in on us. We saw that only glass panels separated us from a sea which was illuminated far to either side by the powerful electric gleams from the ship. What a spectacle! An army of undersea creatures escorted us. They were various and beautiful in the clear water, many known but hundreds unknown to us.

We heard and saw nothing of the captain for several days; then came a note inviting us to a hunt on the bottom of the sea. We donned diving suits, then fastened on a sort of knapsack which furnished us not only with air to breathe, but with the light to see our way. We carried air-guns which fired glass bullets heavily charged with electricity, which had only to touch the most powerful animal to kill him. A connecting compartment filled with water let us into the sea. And thus equipped, wading on the bottom of the clear ocean, we killed our game with ease and without danger.

That hunt was but the first of the wonders of the cruise. Onward we rushed, sometimes on the surface sometimes under the sea. There was our fight with the immense devil-fish which once in a huge school enmeshed the Nautilus. There was the visit to a wonderful pearl fishery, where Captain Nemo showed us a mollusc within whose jaws was a pearl weighing perhaps 500 pounds. Some day we would return and pluck that treasure, but not yet—every year was adding to its value.

We visited the skeletons of long-sunken ships, the corpses of the drowned crew still clinging to the hulls of some. We hunted in the Papuan Islands, where the Nautilus was attacked by the native savages. An electric current turned them back shocked and howling ere they could climb aboard.

When one of the crew died Captain Nemo had him buried in a coral glade in the South Pacific, where was a cross of red coral that looked like petrified blood. It was a wonderful, solemn sight to see the pall-bearers with the dead body on their shoulders, and all treading so reverentially the way from the ship to the coral cemetery, where at the foot of the cross the body was interred and covered up. All knelt in prayer. Captain Nemo was the last to leave.

"Your dead sleep quietly out of the reach of sharks," I said, when we were back on the Nautilus.

"Of sharks and men," he replied. We voyaged under colossal icebergs to the South Pole and all but perished there, escaping from an icy tomb only as our last breath of storage air was exhausted. Wonderful was our passage from the Red Sea into the Mediterranean by means of a subterranean tunnel under the isthmus. (This was before the digging of the Suez canal.) There we witnessed the transfer of a million dollars' worth of gold ingots from the Nautilus to the vessel of a Greek diver.

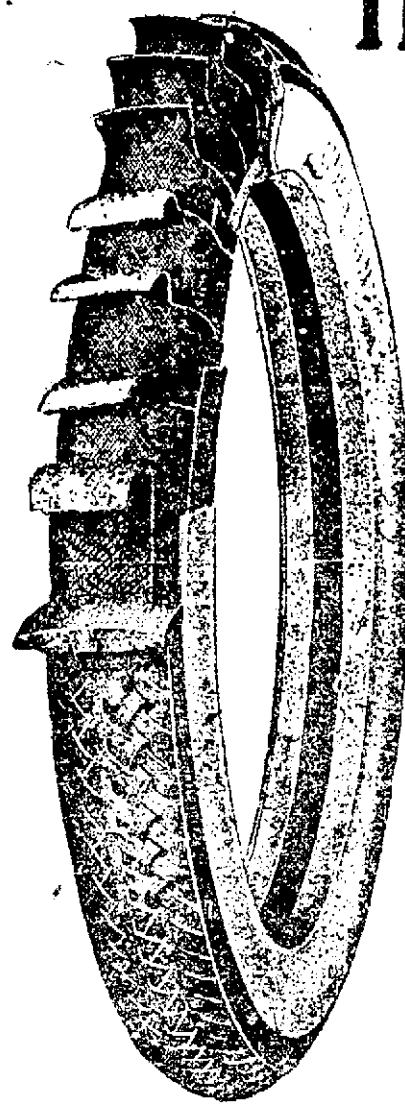

From whence came this store of gold? Later we learned.

In Vigo Bay on the Spanish coast the Nautilus came to rest on bottom. Here in 1702 a fleet of Spanish galleons were sunk, and here from this sunken treasure more than a century and a half later this ruler of the undersea came and helped himself whenever it pleased him. "Five hundred millions were there," said Captain Nemo, "but not now. Do you see now how with these and the other treasures of my domain I could pay the national debt of France and not feel it?"

We had now been six months aboard the Nautilus. For me, the scientist, it was a voyage of ceaseless interest; but not so for Conseil and Ned Land. At their request I pleaded with Captain Nemo for our liberty.

"You came to my ship without invitation. You will now remain here" was the grim answer.

We had left the southern hemisphere and were in the waters off

"Seven Keys to Baldpate" is A Lima Chautauqua Attraction

It is good news to Chautauqua goers to learn that the Coit-Alber Chautauquas have secured from Mr. George M. Colman, noted theatrical producer and playwright, the right to produce at the Chautauqua for the coming summer Mr. Colman's greatest comedy success, "Seven Keys to Baldpate," which he adapted from the book by the same name by Earl Derr Biggers, and which was one of the biggest play successes in New York City, where it enjoyed a run of nearly two seasons.

The play will be given a fine production on the Chautauqua platform since it has been put into the hands of Mr. Percival Vivian of New Great Players fame, for several seasons stage manager of the Morosco Theatre, New York City, and during the past winter the creator of one of the three leading roles in Capt. Rainsfather's delightful play, "The Dutch 'Ole," in support of Macklyn Arbuckle and DeWolf Hopper. Mr. Vivian has secured the original New York stage setting set down and modeled to fit the Chautauqua platforms. The members of the cast have been carefully chosen from among artists direct from Broadway successes of last winter; the company will be under the management and personal direction of Mr. Vivian himself who will appear in the leading role—that of William Holloway Magee, the novelist and hero of the story, a role admirably suited to Mr. Vivian.

The story of the play runs something like this: William Holloway Magee, a writer of popular novels, has made a bet with the owner of Baldpate Inn, a summer hotel on a lonely mountain top, that he can write a best-seller in twenty-four hours. Magee goes to Baldpate Inn to write his story, and receives from the caretaker the key to the inn—"the only key in existence," he is told. But no sooner has he started to work than a multiplicity of keys begin to unlock the door and he finds himself the hero of a stirring adventure with grafting politicians, murderers, a hermit ghost, a charming adventuress, and a still more charming (so Magee thinks) young woman newspaper reporter. Finally the owner of the Inn appears and says that it has all been a joke to prevent the writing of the novel. And just when you have decided that you have finally solved the many mysteries that are presented, you find that you are all wrong and the real solution is given by the last few words in the epilogue just as the curtain falls.

France and the British Islands when we were pursued by an armed warship. Flying no colors, she attacked at once. Her cannon shot rebounded from our iron hull.

Captain Nemo, pointed to her, said: "I am the oppressed, and here is my oppressor. Through him I have lost country, wife, children, father and mother. Why should I withhold my vengeance?"

He called out his orders. The Nautilus sank below the sea. We felt her rushing forward, felt the shock of her steel ram piercing the hull of the enemy. Through the glass panels we saw her doomed crew crowding the railings, clinging to the rails, struggling in the sea. The Nautilus passed on.

I saw captain Nemo go to his room and kneel before the portrait of a woman and two little children. "How long, O Lord, how long!" he cried out.

We steamed north, to that part of the Norwegian coast where lies that dreaded maelstrom which draws in to itself all floating things. The Nautilus—was it an accident?—was drawn into the whirlpool. Around and around she whirled. Even her steel hull felt the strain, we could hear bolts being pulled out from her girders. The long-boat was torn from its place on deck and hurled

LISTEN, CHILDREN OF LIMA!

Here's a Message to Interest You.

You boys and girls from 6 to 14 years, want to be sure and join the Junior Chautauqua. You are to have a regular Junior Chautauqua all your own—and, it needs every morning. The teacher in charge is a regular "kiddie" friend—likes them, and gets down to their level. She tells stories of wonderful men, teaches you greater love for our glorious flag. Then they have a regular "play circus"—elephant, and everything. Say the circus is a scream of delight, and you want to be counted in on the big fun. All the kids went wild over the Junior Chautauqua last year, and the one this year will beat last years all hollow.

And say, you know you have the privilege of attending the Big Folks Chautauqua, too, that meets every afternoon and evening. Just think of it, you will get three entertainments every day for a whole week, 21 in all, for $1.10, which includes the war tax.

It is going to be held the same place this year—at Albion and Elm streets—in a big tent and it begins Friday morning, 9 o'clock, Aug. 22. If you don't know any friend that sells Junior tickets, call up either Mr. Kettler, phone Main 2576, or Mr. Ludwig, phone Main 5331.

Be sure and ask mother or dad to let you go and get your ticket right away before they are all sold.

JUST HORRID

The young bride in the Saxa-blue jumper hit her bun sadly. "Men are really too mean for anything," she said.

"What's the trouble now?" asked the girl in the pink georgette sash, toying with an eclair.

"Why, I asked John for a motor car to-day, and he said that I must be contented with the splendid carriage that Nature had given me."

TAKE NERV-WORTH

The Trouble Began When 8-Year-Old Boy Fell and Crushed Arm.

Parents of small sufferers from nervous distresses will do well to weigh this clear proof of Nerv-Worth's remarkable power. It was given very recently by Mrs. L. F. Clifton of Zanesville, O., to her daughter:

Fogg's Drug Store—My little 8-year-old son fell from an apple tree and his left arm was badly crushed. The shock was severe and left him in a very nervous condition and his appetite was poor. The attending doctor advised me to give him Nerv-Worth and I noticed an improvement from the start. Now, after he has taken three bottles, his nervousness has entirely disappeared and his digestion is as good as new. Nerv-Worth is surely fine for nervous stomach troubles and I heartily recommend it.

RYAN-McLAUGHLIN.

A very pretty wedding and one of local interest was that of Tuesday morning, when at 8:30 o'clock at Holy Rosary church, the Rev. Clement C. Beckmeyer united in marriage Miss Helen McLaughlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. McLaughlin, of St. Mary's, and Vincent Ryan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Ryan, of South Main street.

It was an elaborate wedding. The ceremony was performed before the altar bowered with white lilies and ferns. A. the wedding party consisted of the bride, Miss Margaret Grogan, at the organ, played softly Lohengrin's wedding march. The impressive ring ceremony was used. As the bridal group was leaving the church the organ pealed forth the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march.

The bride was a perfect picture, being daintily clad in white georgette with a handsome veil which fell to the floor and she carried her white prayer book with a shower marker of white ribbons and pink rosebuds. The bridesmaid, Miss Mildred McLaughlin, was attired in green georgette of palest hue and wore a hat of white with white shippers. She wore pink rosebuds.

Following the ceremony just the immediate relatives were invited to the wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John J. McLaughlin, where a delicious four-course breakfast was served. Here again the color scheme of pink and white was carried out. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Ryan, the bride and bridesmaid; Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Ryan and sons, Leon, Emmett and Bernard; Mr. and Mrs. John McLaughlin and children, Mildred, Clement and Gerald, and the Rev. C. C. Beckmeyer.

The young people will make their home here where the bridegroom has prepared a charming nest for his bride.

COUNTRY CLUB DANCE.

There will be a dance held at the Country club Thursday evening, which will be held this week instead of the regular dinner-dance on Friday evening. It was thought best to change this date, because of Thursday's being Ladies Day, and a dance would be a fitting climax to an already perfect day.

A merry party of young people motored to Kenton, Tuesday evening, where they attended a dancing party given by the members of the Epiphany fraternity of that city. Included in the party were Miss Margaret Cooper, Miss Anna Bradley and Harry Wright, Walter Wray and Robert Beckmeyer. The young men are all members of the local chapter of Epiphany.

Word comes to Lima that tourists from this part of the country, Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Kahle and Mrs. Rosemary, Miss Dorothy and Aynsworth, were on Monday registered at the Lafayette hotel in Clinton, Ia.

POLITICAL EQUALITY CLUB

At the meeting of the Political Equality Club at the Public Library held Tuesday, the officers of last year were re-elected as follows: Mrs. Drusilla Reilly, president; Mrs. W. B. Van Note, vice-president; Mrs. Harry Workman, secretary; Mrs. D. L. Sherwood, treasurer; Miss Eleanor Bell, assistant secretary, and Mrs. Frank Boone, corresponding secretary.

One of the principal reasons for holding the meeting was to decide whether the Political Equality Club would continue as such, or whether they would be formed into a League of Women Voters. At this time it was thought best to resume the work as has been the case heretofore after the summer vacation, and to continue the same as before until the thirty-six states required have ratified the suffrage amendment.

The Political Equality Club has always worked toward some day getting the vote for Ohio Women. Ohio has now ratified and woman's work in that direction is now at an end. It is now then turn to sit quietly and wait for the other states to ratify. Many legislatures do not meet until 1920 so that will necessitate quite a delay in the proceedings. However, the Ohio women are to make the best of it, and they will continue in their present line of study of civic duty problems and thus gain a greater knowledge of the work to be done so that when it is their time to vote, they will be the better fitted for it.

INFORMAL PARTY

The Misses Nell and Cora Holland of West Spring street, entertained informally Tuesday afternoon at their home for the pleasure of Miss Anne Baxter, of Newark, New Jersey; Mrs. F. T. Cuthbert's guest, and Mrs. Louise Morris, of Denver, Colo., sister of Mrs. F. A. Holland.

Mrs. Jesse Rousculp of West Wayne street, has as her guest Miss Edna Peterson of Ft. Wayne, Indiana.

James W. Halfhill, Jr., of North Collett street, underwent a successful operation at St. Rita's hospital. He was taken to his home Wednesday.

Mrs. Cliff Churchill, of Bellefontaine, and Mrs. Frank Faurot, of Minneapolis, are visiting their parents Mr. and Mrs. George Faurot, of South Jameson avenue.

THAT CHANGE IN WOMAN'S LIFE

Mrs. Godden Tells How It May be Passed in Safety and Comfort.

Fremont, O.—"I was passing through the critical period of life, being forty-six years of age and had all the symptoms incident to that change—heat, nervousness, and was in a general run down condition, so it was hard for me to do my work."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me as the best remedy for my troubles, which it surely proved to be. I feel better and stronger in every way since taking it, and the annoying symptoms have disappeared."—Mrs. M. Godden, 925 Napoleon St., Fremont, Ohio.

Such annoying symptoms as heat, flashes, nervousness, headache, irritability and "the blues," may be speedily overcome and the system restored to normal conditions by this famous root and herb remedy Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If any complications present themselves write the Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for suggestions how to overcome them. The result of forty years experience is at your service and your letter held in strict confidence.

XIV.—WOMAN TO ANOTHER

Dick Frazier fascinated me at once, with your red hair," I said cheerfully. "I'd like to chance at them myself. I wonder if Paul will go."

Alice shivered. "Don't be flippant, Nell. You make me uncomfortable. I love Martin and I'm going to marry him before he goes to camp."

"Naturally. You run down weekends and have great fun with the student officers. There were some of the most adorable boys at Plattsburg last summer."

Alice brought her hand down sharply on mine. "Can you never realize, Nell, that I love Martin—love him, do you hear—and no other man will ever mean anything to me."

Astonished at the vehemence of her tone, I turned and scanned her face in the moonlight. She was perfectly serious.

"Oh well," I murmured easily. "I've said that, too, about three times a year ever since I was sixteen. One means it for the moment."

"But marriage—"

"Marriage fiddlesticks! Marriage is an episode or a disease if you like. You've got to have it once, so take it while you're young, and your attack will be milder. Look at Fan—look at all of us look at me!"

"I am looking at you, Nell, and I'm very, very sorry for you. You've got the whole skein of life tangled and you're going about the unraveling in the very worst way. You're a sweet thing sometimes and it distresses me to know that you are going to be hurt very badly."

Tomorrow—"A Slight Mistep."

A Chance to Live

(By Zoe Beckley)

BERNIE TAKES A CHANCE

"There's a peach of a chance," he said on his return from this point, "to clean up a bunch of cash on Cadmium common. All the chaps that were in the camping party are in on it. Safe as a church and clean as a whistle. Say, Ann—"

"Ann went quietly on with her sewing without replying. "Ann, we've got quite a little wad saved, haven't we?"

"Something," said Ann from her rocking chair, which went on with a brisker motion.

"How much?"

"Well, I saved about a hundred and seventy-five while I was working. And you've got a little, too, why?"

"Listen Nance. If we put $200 in this pool we'll make forty or fifty each. Who, don't you? There isn't any risk at all and it'd be nice—for the little fellow."

Ann rocked on, a slight pucker between her eyes.

"But if it shouldn't—"

"Now don't say that," interrupted Bernie, coming behind her and pinching her ears affectionately. "I tell you it's as sure as shooting."

He felt it was sure. Perhaps Bernie Carroll had a little keener faculty for believing things he wanted to believe than most people. At all events he convinced his wife that it would be foolish to let such a chance go.

They drew their "wad" from the savings bank and Bernie put it into the pool, all eagerness and confidence. He had made $75 before. He would do it again. Ann was not so hopeful. But she attributed her doubts to her generally nervous state and said nothing. She was taxed to the utmost these days to preserve any sort of calmness. The agnosticism that is a natural part of the approach to motherhood gripped her. Her own immediate problems blurred the vision of everything else. The world revolved about her and her miracle, now so important.

Bernie came home one night a little late, to find Ann ill and Aunt Margaret there. It was a muggy night in September, following a long hot spell that had frazzled everybody's nerves. Aunt Margaret was fanning Ann, who lay on a couch that had been moved near the window, feeling her little bits of ice from a bowl, and smoothing back the damp hair from her forehead. Bernie knelt and hugged Aunt Margaret and looked at her questioningly.

"It's all right, he," she reassured him. "Just the heat and a bit of a faint spell. You sit here a while and I'll run into the kitchen and fix your supper."

Across the narrow apartment court a woman was singing and a parrot in a cage on a window sill screeched frenziedly. Bernie felt like killing it. He was in a savage mood and life looked dark to him.

He ate his supper in silence. The flat stifled him and he went for a little walk. When he got back, an oddish woman opened the door for him.

"I'm the nurse, sort," she said briefly, and instantly Bernie sensed the air of subdued brightness and suspense that had so suddenly come to fill his small home. He heard a man's voice—the doctor's—and Aunt Margaret's low replies as she moved about, quiet and efficient.

There seemed no place for Bernie and the load of fear and gloom he carried. The parrot still screeked piercingly across the airshaft. A piano was jangling a popular tune somewhere. Who cared about the Carrolls and their tragedies and their pain?

Toward midnight Aunt Margaret begged Bernie to go out again for a few turns round the block. "It'll be better for all," she urged. And Bernie, sick at heart and numb with apprehension, went.

Cincinnati shut out Brooklyn in the first game, 1 to 0, and also won the second game, 6 to 1. Ring allowed three hits in the opener. Ellor had yielded only five scattered hits in the second game until the ninth inning, when Zac Wheat doubled and scored on Konetchy's single. Sherwood Magee made four hits in four times at bat in the second game.

Great Crowd at Giants-Reds Game and Cincinnati Infielders.

Baseball just now is enjoying one of its most prosperous seasons. Attendance figures read like those for world's series games. At the Polo Grounds where the Giants and the Cincinnati Reds played recently more than 42,000 fans jammed their way in and thousands were turned away. This photograph shows a part of the record-breaking crowd. In the insert are the Cincinnati infielders, who have been going like a house afire. They are, left to right, Heinie Groh, third base, Kopf, shortstop; Morris Rath, second base, and Jake Daubert, first base.

With The Boxers

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—It was learned from a reliable source today that Leon Raines, the fight promoter, of Philadelphia, has matched Champion Benny Leonard to meet Soldier Bartfield, the game welterweight of Brooklyn, in the wind-up at an open-air show which he will stage at the Philadelphia National League Baseball Park on Wednesday evening, September 3. Raines also may use Clay Turner and Battling Levinsky in the semi-final to the main go.

Frankie Burns, the Jersey City featherweight, and Jimmy Blue, of this vicinity, have been matched by Jimmy DeForest, manager of the DeForest A. C. of Long Branch, N. J., to meet in the star bout of eight rounds at the club's next weekly boxing show on Friday night.

A match between Harry Groh, of Pittsburgh and Jeff Smith, of Bayonne, N. J., has been clinched for Labor Day afternoon. They will come together for 15 rounds at an open air boxing show at Youngstown, Ohio.

Eddie Moy, the fast lightweight of Allentown, Penn. and Harlem Eddie Kelly will swap punches in an eight-round bout at the Hamilton A. C. of Passaic, N. J., on the night of September 5. Moy also is signed up to meet Johnny Clinton, the East Side lightweight, for 12 rounds at Lowell, Mass., on August 22.

RACES AGAIN POSTPONED
POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Aug. 20.—The Grand Circuit races scheduled for yesterday at Hudson river driving party, were postponed again today on account of a heavy track. An extra race will be added to the program each day in order to complete the card for the week in the next four days.

OLD TIMER
FAVORS REDS

Bob Ewing, "Long Bob," for eight years on the pitching staff of the Cincinnati Reds, now residing near New Hampshire, is making his best judgment on the ability of the Reds to win the National league pennant. Mr. Ewing believes that the Reds are the best team in the National league this year, and that therefore they ought to win.

GREAT DIAMOND
STAR NOW RICH

Pete Noonan, of Los Angeles, Calif., former star catcher for the Philadelphia Athletics and for the past year a Knights of Columbus secretary, has inherited a fortune estimated at $1,000,000. Frank Flynn, another K. of C. secretary, just returned after several months overseas, states that he saw Noonan in Ireland just after lawyers had notified Pete of his good fortune. Secretary Flynn could not state from whom Noonan received the legacy, but he believes it is from a relative in the United States. Noonan is expected to return in a few weeks from Ireland, where he is doing work for the K. of C.

PLAYING SAFE

In a five and ten cent store a of a counter on which was displayed a number of mechanical toys. Picking up a large bug, he asked the girl behind the counter. "How much is this?" "Ten cents," the girl replied, and then she asked, curiously: "Taking it home to your little boy?" "No," the man returned. "I got other uses for it." "I wonder what?" "I want to take it with me to a banquet."

"To a banquet?" "Yes. A wine supper." "What's the idea?" "Every time I take a drink I am going to put this bug on the table in front of me." "Uh huh." "And when I see two bugs I'll know it is time to go home."

The government will rebuild many railroad bridges in Greece with steel or concrete and permit the use of American locomotives that were imported several years ago but found too heavy for the present bridges.

FATHER AND SON KILLED BY ELECTRICITY

BOTH INSTANTLY KILLED BY CONTACT WITH A GUY WIRE

Deadly Current Carried In Strand Without Insulation Is Statement

ACCIDENT AT OTTAWA

Parent Meets Death Trying to Arouse Supposed
Sleeping Boy

A sugging electric light wire touching a guard wire which was in direct connection with a "guy" running from a pole, caused the death of Frank Schmidbusch, aged 60, and his son, Edwin, 12, near their home at Ottawa shortly before 5:00 o'clock last evening.

The son was herding cows near the home and was lying down beneath a large elm tree. He was lying directly beneath a guy wire supporting a telephone pole of the Ottawa Mutual Telephone company, when in some manner he touched the wire which was in connection with a guard wire suspended above the lines of the telephone company to protect them from wires of the Ohio Electric Railway company and the Northwestern Ohio Light company. Twenty-three hundred volts passed through the boy's body. There was no witnesses to the accident. The father returning from the fields discovered the lad had not brought the cows home, and started to hunt him. He passed another lad who informed the father Edwin was sleeping beneath the large tree.

Tries to Awaken Son.
The father went to the lad, and stooping over endeavored to arouse him from what he thought was sleep. Schmidbusch, in bending over, caught the guy wire for support. Death was instantaneous. The man's hand caught in a loop made in the guy, and neighbors had to take a rail in order to get him loose. The accident happened in the northern section of Ottawa at a crossroads known as the Five Points, and was directly in front of the Schmidbusch home.

The wires of the Ottawa Mutual Telephone company which cross the road, are guarded from the high tension lines of the railway and light companies by a guard wire strung above the telephone company's wire. However, through some error in the engineering, it is stated, there is no insulation between the guy and the guard wire.

Guy Carries Current.
Owing to elements, the high tension wire of the Northwestern Light company came in contact with this strand and the current was carried to the ground by the guy.

Word was received here immediately following the accident that it was an Ohio Electric Railway company's line that had fallen. Attorneys of the company were sent to the scene of the accident and it was ascertained the wire was owned by the light company.

The coroner of Putnam county viewed the scene immediately following the accident and it is understood, an inquest will be held some time in the week to determine just who is responsible for the death of the father and son.

SISTER GIOVANNI, ONCE MISS CARDOSI DIES IN COLORADO

The many Lima friends of Sister Mary Giovanni, formerly Miss Mary Cardosi, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Cardosi, 611 West Market street, will regret to learn of her death which occurred in Trinidad, Colo., Tuesday. Sister Giovanni had been in failing health for the past several months, and death was the result of tuberculosis which she contracted after a serious case of influenza last winter.

Sister Giovanni was about 27 years of age, and entered the novitiate of the Sisters of Charity at Cincinnati, September 8, 1911. She was a graduate of St. Rose high school, in the class of 1908, and also member of the St. Rose Alumni. Since entering the order Sister Giovanni has been a teacher of music. A sister, Miss Hazel Cardosi died about three years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Cardosi, son Edward, and daughters, Alvina and Louise were with Sister Giovanni when the end came. It is probable that burial will be made in the convent cemetery at the mother house near Cincinnati.

CITY OFFICIALS TO SPRING NEW MOVE IN ST. CAR STRIKE

Details of Plan Withheld
But It Is Said Will Force Action

LIMA STRIKES HOLD

Steel Casting Company May Shut Down Because of Trouble

City officials of Lima are contemplating a plan whereby the Ohio Electric Railway company will be forced to operate its cars in this city, according to information received this afternoon. Just what this plan is was not revealed.

Mayor Haffis Simpson, when questioned relative to the move, stated a plan is under way, but no publicity will be given the matter at present, further than that he refused to say. Another official, when questioned as to whether or not it is a move to bring about a reconciliation between the company and the men, or whether it is simply a move to force the company to operate, replied that the plan, if worked out, will force the company to run its cars in Lima.

Newark Plan.
It was at first thought here Mayor Simpson would take the same move toward making the company operate its cars as has been threatened by Mayor H. A. Atherton, of Newark, who this morning told officials of the company it will either have to settle the strike within the next 48 hours or forfeit the franchise, and take its tracks off the city streets.

It is announced this ultimatum has been sent to officials of the company at Springfield, where a meeting was held yesterday between the officials of the company and mayors of various cities on the system.

Mayor Simpson and City Solicitor Light left here yesterday morning for Springfield to attend the conference, but upon reaching Roundhead, the engine in the mayor's automobile stalled, and the officials never got any farther to Springfield than Roundhead.

Mayors Meet Fails.
However, those mayors who did meet with the officials were unable to effect any kind of a settlement, or even persuade the company to accede to any demand of them. According to information received in this city this morning, the men are willing to arbitrate the differences and accept an increase of five cents per hour instead of the ten cents asked.

A meeting of the trainmen was held this afternoon, but what transpired at the conference was not learned. However, it is the general opinion the men are considering just what step to take in order to effect a settlement with the company.

City officials are of the opinion today that there is little chance of effecting a settlement between the men and the company at present, and they declare it will be several weeks before this will be done. The reason for this, they say, is the fact that the men have not been out long enough to miss their monthly pay, and to serious effect the company.

Local Strike Situation.
Everything in the telephone line-men's strike is at a standstill, and it was announced last night that D. J. Cable, president of the company will arrive in this city tonight or tomorrow from his vacation, and will talk the situation over with the men in an effort to effect a settlement.

According to information received this afternoon, The Lima Steel Casting Company will in all probability shut down its plant within the next few days if the moulders persist in staying out. It is understood this strike has been caused by labor agitators who are endeavoring to persuade other workers in this city to leave their jobs in sympathy with a steel strike in Springfield. This is however, denied by the men, who state they must have better wages or lower cost of living.

QUIET AT MILWAUKEE.
MILWAUKEE, Aug. 20.—With a battalion of state home guards on duty at the Cudahy Packing Company's plant at Cudahy no new outbreaks from the riot which yesterday resulted in the death of one striker and injury to many others were looked for today.

Negotiations between the strikers and company officials looking toward a settlement of the trouble were to be held today.

Proposal to Pay Bill For Losing His Job

BERLIN, Aug. 20.—A bill has been submitted to the Prussian cabinet which provides that 170,000,000 marks shall be given to former Emperor William as total settlement for the civil war he lost through "forced abdication," according to a Weimar dispatch in the Freiheit. The cabinet has not reached a decision it is said, because the scheme is opposed by Herr Von Braun, minister of agriculture.

ALMOST MIRACLE SAVES LIVES OF 3 IN AUTO WRECK

Two young women and a man miraculously escaped serious injury and possible death about 5:30 o'clock Tuesday evening, when the automobile in which they were riding plunged thru the east side of the Elm street bridge over the Ottawa river, and crashed to the rocky bed of the river, about 15 feet below.

Miss Helen Roof, 1016 East Market street was the driver of the auto in which Miss Cornelia Rex, 1213 East High street and Cornelius Fivehouse, bookkeeper for the Tigner cigar company were riding home from work.

Miss Roof in attempting to avoid striking a buggy which was also passing over the bridge, in some way lost control of the steering wheel and the auto headed for the railing, and crashed below. Nearby residents hearing their screams rushed to the scene, and called the Williams and Davis ambulance. The machine was wrecked.

Miss Rex was the most seriously injured, her right ear being cut almost in two. Miss Roof was bruised considerably, but Fivehouse escaped uninjured. The two young women were taken to the city hospital, but were able to leave the hospital today, after having their injuries cared for.

ACCUSED OF KILLING.
FINDLAY, O., August 20.—Howard Newell, of Bloomdale, was bound over to the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter, as a result of the death of Mrs. Charles Luzador, who was killed August 10, when a carriage in which she was riding was struck by an automobile said to have been driven by Newell. Newell was released under $1,000 bond.

DETROIT IS THIRD LARGEST IMPORTING CENTER OF OPIUM

DETROIT, Mich., August 20.—Two and one-half tons of opium is each year brought into the city of Detroit, and most of it is put to legitimate uses, according to the federal authorities.

Detroit has 40,000 drug addicts, it has been estimated, and city officials are being urged to establish a municipal institution where they may be treated and cured; if possible, for questioning has brought out the fact that a very large proportion of the victims acquire their drug habit through association with other addicts.

Detroit, it is said, is the third largest opium importing center in the United States, the major portion of the drug coming in from Canada and Mexico, and the police declare the "underground railway" over which the traffic is handled in the main is operated by a drug smuggling organization that is nationwide.

No more than 10 per cent of the opium brought into this city is used in prescriptions and patent medicines. It has been stated, 90 per cent or more being used for illegal purposes. Medicine manufacturers here, investigation has shown, use very little of the drug in their preparations.

Among the facts brought out by local investigations into the use of opium is that Americans, native, lead all other nationalities in its illegitimate use.

FALLS OFF BRIDGE, ESCAPES WITH BAD EYE AND BRUISES

New Knoxville Man Lies In Bed of River For Some Time

GETS OUT HIMSELF

Returns to Stopping Place
Before Officers Arrive on Scene

Julius Ashmeyer, of New Knoxville, narrowly escaped serious injury last night when he fell off the Baltimore and Ohio railroad bridge which spans Ottawa river. He suffered a badly lacerated eye, a deep gash in his right cheek and numerous body bruises.

Ashmeyer came to Lima a few days ago, and has been staying with a friend, L. Evans, on Delaney avenue. He secured work in a local restaurant, and was going there when the accident happened. According to his story, he left the home of this friend for the restaurant, and thinking to save time, he walked down the railroad track. As he was crossing the bridge, he lost his balance and plunged into the water, which is not very deep at that point.

Ashmeyer was knocked unconscious by the fall, and laid in the bed of the stream for some time. Finally he managed to arise and made his way back to the home of Evans. From there he was taken to the office of Dr. Steiner in a machine.

Police were notified by neighbors that a man was heard to scream and they were of the opinion someone had jumped from the bridge. By the time the authorities arrived, however, Ashmeyer had returned to the home of Evans.

PROSECUTOR FINDS STORAGE INCREASE HAS BEEN LARGE

Since 1917 there has been a 207 per cent increase in the amount of creamery butter in storage, and 27 per cent increase in case eggs since the same time, according to information received this morning by Prosecutor Cable, who is investigating the h. c. 1 in Lima.

The increases in poultry have been greater than eggs, according to the prosecutor. Since July 1, 1918, there has been a 467.8 per cent increase in broilers; 341.8 in roosters, and 219.4 per cent increase in miscellaneous fowls.

Complaints from local citizens are still being received by the prosecutor, who today received a letter from a South Side resident complaining about the exorbitant prices being charged by a grocer on South Main street. The matter will be investigated, Cable said.

Jap Steamers Run Aground

SEATTLE, August 20.—Two Japanese steamers, the Yomei Maru and the Shinbu Maru, early today were aground on the shores of Straits of Juan De Fuca, according to a wireless message received here.

The Yomei is said to be in a dangerous position on rocks about 17 miles west of Victoria, B. C. The Shinbu grounded on the Bentick Island. Both went ashore in a fog last night, it was reported.

Daylight Law Is Repealed

WASHINGTON, August 20.—Repeal of the daylight savings act was accomplished today, the senate voting to sustain the house in passing repeal measure over President Wilson's veto. The vote was 57 to 19.

Female Skeeters Ones That Bite

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 20.—The female of the species has been found more deadly than the male, this time by the New Jersey state department of conservation and developments which is seeking to free the state of its justly notorious mosquito.

According to the department only the female mosquito bites. Making only this bare assertion, the scientists revealed no means by which the sex of an assaulting insect may be determined at 30 feet, so that New Jerseyites will probably continue to stand by to repel the airy boarders when the roar of their wings becomes audible.

GERMAN POLICE ORGANIZED ON MILITARY BASIS

COBLENZ, August 20.—Militarization of German police, contrary to terms of the treaty of peace, has already begun, according to information reaching here. In the city of Cassel, on both sides of the Fulda, the police recently completely organized on military lines by the Prussian government. It is said, and are now equipped with steel helmets and rifles and follow the routine of a military company in their barracks.

The ultimate size of the new militarized police organization has not been announced. Americans studying the demobilization and reorganization of the German army say that the significance of militarizing police in Germany is great.

American officers have record of an announcement that the Prussian state government, quite apart from the national government, was to organize a "schutzmansschaft," or state police force throughout Prussia, which would be virtually military units in garb with full infantry equipment, but would be under control of the minister of the

Why Lack of Iron In The Blood May Be Costing You Money Every Day

Many a Capable Man or Woman Falls Just Short of Winning Because They Don't Back Up Their Mentality With Physical Strength and Energy.

Get some of the money—don't let the other fellow have it all—because you are too weak, nervous and run-down to go after it with the same vim that gets him what he wants. Make yourself a man of blood and iron—a woman of power and vitality.

"Many a capable man or woman falls just short of winning because they don't back up their mentality with the physical strength and energy which comes from having plenty of iron in the blood," says Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital.

"Lack of iron in the blood not only makes a man a physical and mental weakling, nervous, irritable, easily fatigued, but it robs him of that virile force, that stamina and strength of will which are so necessary to success and power in every walk of life. It may also transform a beautiful sweet-tempered woman into one who is cross, nervous and irritable. To help other druggists.

MANUFACTURERS' NOTE:—Nuxated Iron which is pre-scribed and recommended by physicians, and which is now being used by over three million people annually, is not a secret remedy but one which is well known to druggists everywhere. Unlike the older iron tonic, Nuxated Iron is easily assimilated and does not irritate the stomach. The manufacturer guarantees successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. It is dispensed in this city by all good druggists.

Sold by H. F. Vortcamp drug store and all other druggists.

Crawford's Bootery

RIGHT SHOES for Your Babe

The entire future of your Babe's Feet depends upon you securing the right kind of foot-covering in the early stages of development.

During the early years their little feet are tender, bones are soft and pliable—easily bent,—which means deformed feet—crooked toes—weak ankles—and oft-times weak arches in later years—all caused by ill-shaped, cheaply constructed—and bad fitting shoes.

Our Infants' and Children's Shoes are all made exclusively by experts, who know nothing else but shoe building for the Babekins, devoting years and years to the study of the infant's feet—and besides our Children's Shoes are all fitted by Ladies who thoroughly understand the needs of the tiny little feet.

In fact they are instructed NOT to make a sale without a Correct Fit.

Bring Your Children to Crawford's.
